PROPERTY IN KARACHI FOR SALE.

THE LIQUIDATORS of the S. P. and D. BANK having decided to sell that VALUABLE PROPERTY on the McLeod Road, Karachi, near the city Railway Station, at present occupied by Messrs. Latham and Co., undersigned begs to intimate that he will be prepared to RECEIVE OFFERS for the same up to 10 a.m. on MONDAY the 30th January, 1882.

The property consists of a handsome and substantial building in the Italian style suitable for a dwelling house, a bank or a merchant's office; and extensive and complete outhouses built of stone and lime and very suitable for godowns.

The area of the ground measures 5,168 square yards. The whole is held on a lease for 51 years from 1858. The Government Land rent is Rs. 16-8-0 per annum.

The property adjoins the Station-yard of the Scind Railway whence sidings might be run into the compound, and the frontage is bounded by McLeod Road, along which a tram way will be laid in a few months. The situation is one of the best in Karachi for a merchant or a banker, and it is expected that in the course of a few years the property will greatly increase in value.

The highest offer will be accepted. Payment to be made within one month from date of sale.

J. CAMPBELL,
Attorney for the Liquidators S. P. and D. Bank, Karachi.

NESTLE'S MILK FOOD.

AN exquisitely delicate and very strengthening Food for Infants, of special value towards the period of weaning, and one of the best Foods for Dyspeptic Invalids yet produced. Prepared in Switzerland in the same manner as Condensed Milk, with the addition of a light, nutritious farine.

Constant fresh importations received by

D. S. KEMP & CO.,
SASSOON HOUSE, BOMBAY.

SPARKLING VIVONE.

EXTENSIVE as the sale of this beverage now is, the Public at large have a very inadequate idea of its real value. It is signally adapted to the requirements of hospitality and all social celebrations, and, besides being as companionable a refreshment as Tobacco, it gradually but SURELY ARRESTS THE LONGING FOR ALCOHOLIC LIQUORS.

The evidence to this effect is now overwhelming.

Doz. Rs. 3. Two Dozens with case Rs. 6-8.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

THURSDAY EVENING, JAN. 18.

NOTWITHSTANDING that the whole of the 50 lakhs of Government Drawings were alloted (a little over 44 lakhs to Calcutta, and under 3 lakhs to Bombay) yesterday with a minimum rate of 1-8d., Bar Silver had declined 51/16d. Exchange consequently opened here very weak this morning, and a decline has taken place all round. We quote as follows :—

	Telegraph.	Demand	3 months' sight.	4 months' sight.
Bank.....	1s. 8 1-32d.	1s. 8 1-16d.	1s. 8¼d.	1s. 8 5-16d.
		3 months' sight.		6 months' sight.
Credits.....		1 8 1-16		1 8⅜
Documents....		1 8 15-32		1 8 21-32
France.....		215¼		217½

For February and March delivery business can be done in sterling at 1-32 lower in all positions, but France are the same as quoted above. Money seems easier in London, the discount rate being given at 1 per cent. under the Bank minimum, and 4 per cent. Rupee Paper had improved to 84¾.

Cotton in Liverpool is quoted unchanged, but the sales are 14,000 bales. Surats to arrive are quoted :—

Good Comras, January-February shipment ..	5⅛
Do. do. February-March	5 7-16

which is an advance of 1-16 on the rates advised on Saturday last. The market here opened this morning firm at the quotations of yesterday, and a fair business has been put through. Advices from New York received during the day report a fall in that market of 7 points, and since this became known sellers have been a little more easy to deal with.

Wheat from home is quoted "unchanged," but both Linseed and Rapeseed are reported "firmer."

Bombay linseed is quoted ready 48-6, to arrive 49
Yellow Guzerat Rapeseed „ 51-6, „ 49

In Imports we have nothing at all new to report on to-day's market. Manchester is again reported steady, with all quotations as before.

Government Paper opened a shade lower this morning, but it has since been steadied by the better accounts from home.

The Share Market generally is not much altered, and the variations have been rather irregular.

Bank of Bombay has advanced Rs. 2½, viz., to 752½.

Press Companys have been in demand.

Ackar has advanced from .....Rs.	760	to Rs.	800
Bellary „	585	to „	600
Prince of Wales „	1,625	to „	1,650
Volkarts „	535	to „	540

SPINNING SHARES.—We said last night that at the close our quotations were barely maintained, and to-day we have to reduce them in many cases from Rs. 5 to 10.

Alliance have gone down from Rs.	845	to Rs.	835
Bombay United „ ... „	965	to „	950
Conta „ ... „	900	to „	890
Dharumsey „ ... „	510	to „	495
Manackjee Petit „ ... „	1,350	to „	1,345
Manackjee „ ... „	1,200	to „	1,190
Western India „ ... „	970	to „	960

In miscellaneous shares we note a fall in Bombay Saw Mills from Rs. 475 to Rs. 450, but Bombay and Burmahs have advanced from Rs. 2,075 to Rs. 2,110.

The freight market is quiet, but fairly steady. For Liverpool by Canal steamer the rates are 37-6d. for ready and February and March shipment, and 38-9d. for April and May. By the Cape the ship Magnificent is booking at 40s. for ready shipment, and engagements can be made, March and April shipments, by the same route at 43-9d. For Genoa and Marseilles the quotation is 45s., payable at 2s. exchange; and this rate can be got for either January, February, or March by steamer via Canal. For Havre the Nawarth Castle has given out further orders at 40s., February loading. There are several steamers offering for United Kingdom or Continent, March loading, at 40s., without as yet finding takers.

...though ... may be allowed ... public has somewhat lost its ... interest in the effects of the policy of the present Government in Afghanistan, it may be hoped that this loss of interest is only temporary, and that the steady progress of Russia in Central Asia may re-awaken the attention of the thinking and influential class to some consideration of our present position. Kandahar has been abandoned—inevitably under the circumstances—the railway to the highlands of Beloochistan has been given up, and the force at Quetta and in Pishin diminished to a handful of troops. In the meantime Russia has been pushing steadily onwards; and although it may suit the purposes of a party to speak scoffingly of the efforts which she is making to advance and solidify her communications from her base on the Caspian with her advanced and important post at Askabad, now garrisoned by 8,000 men, it cannot be regarded as the highest effort of statesmanship to neglect the fact of these military preparations on the part of Russia. It is absurd to suppose that the expenditure which is now being incurred by Russia on her railway communication from the Caspian in the direction of Herat is merely for the purpose of waging war against a few savage tribes, and for subjugating their country. In the correspondence which was published not long ago as a Parliamentary paper, Lord Hartington took exception to the retention of a large force in the Pishin district, because it might place a permanent obstacle in the way of the ultimate fulfilment of the policy of the Government. This force has been largely reduced, and the Quetta division has now sunk from the importance of a divisional command to that of a district of the second class, to be commanded by a Brigadier-General, with one staff officer as Brigade-Major. While, then, the policy of the day on our side is that of retrogression, it is noteworthy to observe the exactly contrary course which Russia has followed. The head-quarters of the Governor and the General Commanding have been transferred to Askabad, and while we have been constantly diminishing the strength of our troops at Quetta, and have been wasting time in futile discussions as to the fortifications it should possess, the Russians have constructed a large fort at Askabad, and have been establishing a chain of forts on the line of communication.

But there are still more ominous rumours in the air that a strong party at the India Office is endeavouring to force on the too willing attention of the Cabinet the necessity for abandoning Quetta itself, and withdrawing altogether behind the line of the Indus. It is, of course, easy to point to the opinions held by many eminent men well versed in Indian affairs, and uttered many years ago, to the effect that it was then inexpedient to occupy Quetta as an advanced position. Capital can also be made of the fact that in 1867 a Conservative Government considered that the occupation of Quetta was inexpedient both on military and political grounds, but those who are inclined to quote this as conclusive are apt to forget the great change which has occurred in the position occupied by Russia in Central Asia since that date. At that time Krasnovodsk on the Caspian had not been occupied, and but little progress had been made on the line of the Oxus; while Tchikishlar itself had not been acquired, and Khiva was still independent. Whatever objections may be deemed to exist against our permanent occupation of Kandahar have no force when applied to the necessity for our holding Quetta or some strong position in its vicinity. By our treaty with the Khan of Khelat we are empowered to occupy such positions in his territory as may be thought advisable; and there can be no two opinions that the peace of the frontier in this direction has been assured by the presence of a British force at Quetta. To give up that position now would be a retrograde step of the most unfortunate kind, and would be regarded by Afghanistan, by Russia, and indeed by the whole of the inhabitants of India as a confession of weakness. It is scarcely conceivable that it is necessary to demonstrate to any thinking men the urgency and importance of our maintaining ourselves at or near Quetta in sufficient strength; but it is quite possible that the present Government might seize the opportunity, when public attention is diverted from affairs in Asia by the distraction of the state of Ireland, or the consideration of the County Franchise Bill, or some other piece of domestic legislation, to carry out to the bitter end their policy of non-intervention in the affairs of Central Asia, in the shadowy hope of securing that phantom of the imagination which takes form in the expression of a "neutral Afghanistan."

We imagine, however, that it is not likely the many opponents of the present retrograde policy who are to be found in the ranks of the Liberal, as well as of the Conservative, party will allow this most important question to be decided in an adverse sense, without some attempt at least to secure a full hearing of the whole case. It is marvellous to think of the manner in which the discussion connected with Afghanistan, and our relations with that country, has been overshadowed by political partisanship, and it is still more extraordinary to find an English statesman of the first rank talking of the Afghans as he would speak of a European nation, and of the moral effect which our magnanimous conduct would produce upon them. Even Lord Hartington, whose commonsense usually prevents his being blinded by the sinister influence of party politics, still pursues that will-o'-the-wisp of a strong, united, and friendly Afghanistan; and there is, unfortunately, nothing to show in his late speeches that he is at all alive to the rapid strides which Russia is making towards her objective,—nothing to show that his commonsense obliges him to believe or admit, however unwillingly, that England is bound to protect her frontier and her empire in India by the maintenance of even a post of observation beyond the mountain barrier, which, if not passed, serves no other purpose but to shroud from our view the proceedings of our northern neighbour. Admitting fully that there are grave and weighty reasons against the occupation of a more forward position, the advantages of Quetta, or some position in its neighbourhood, as an advanced base for possible operations, and as a post of observation, are almost too patent to need demonstration. With the railway completed to Quetta connecting with the whole system of railways in India, and with an entrenched camp of moderate size in a salubrious situation, we should be in a position to act decisively and vigorously whenever that neutrality of Afghanistan in which Lord Hartington believes was threatened. We could then turn our attention, in such breathing time as may be afforded, towards the perfection of our military system, so that, when the day of trial came, we might be able to launch a force at short notice for the occupation of Kandahar, and to support this advanced guard by a powerful and compact army. If, however, we abandon Quetta and retire behind the Indus, or even if we fail to complete the railway communication to that place,—if we persist in the policy of isolation and refrain from the military preparation imperatively required, we shall awake some morning to find that the Russians are masters of Herat.

We give to-day a map of the country from Bombay to Cawnpore, showing the five alternative routes for improved railway communication between Western and Central India. We also give the letter of Mr. Mathew, the Agent of the B. B. and C. I. Railway Company, in answer to the Government Resolution which we published yesterday. [illegible] ...ents the ostensible ...ir Mathew ...ance to ... a railway from Cutch to Ratlam and on to Gwalior and Cawnpore. We have said that the ...osals set forth in the Government of India were possibly not the real reasons which influenced the Government. There is a suspicion abroad that the Government is anxious above all things to nurse its own newly-acquired property, the East Indian Railway, and that the ...allusion to these ...ments ... Hooghly as a ... compensate ... Central ... for the shelving of ... advocated by Mr. Mathew, is in itself suggestive of the point of view from which the Government of India is disposed to look at this question. The bridge over the Hooghly cannot be built in less than five years from the present time, and it might be very well left out of consideration when the question is one of bringing Central India into closer communication with Bombay. If the Government, upon a comparison of the relative merits of the G. I. P. Line with that of the B. B. and C. I. Railway, had decided for the former against the latter, or for the latter against the former, we, at this side of India, would be prepared to acquiesce. But when the judgment is given in favour of a bridge not yet made, which will possibly facilitate traffic at Calcutta, as against any project for increased railway accommodation in Central and Western India, we have a right to protest.

MR. JOSEPH COOK gave the last of his lectures to the Bombay public last evening, in the Town Hall, where a large audience of Europeans and native swere assembled to applaud or to hiss as seemed good to them. It is a tribute to Mr. Cooks's powers as a speaker that such large numbers of both communities could be got together on several occasions to hear him discourse on religion. The orator is evidently a man of considerable ability, and he possesses a bass voice of unusual compass. He is very proud of being an American, and even if he did not proclaim his nationality several times over in the course of a lecture, his birthplace might be inferred from a certain "tallness" of prediction and of language to which even those Britishers who have long dwelt in the East can scarcely listen without a smile. Thus he informed his audience last night that it was a fixed fact that America will at a given date possess two hundred millions of inhabitants, and that the Atlantic and Pacific oceans would be to the "English-speaking race" what the Mediterranean was to the Roman at the time of the Empire. He used this prediction as a bludgeon with which to beat into silence a number of unruly Brahmin youths at the back of the hall who had ventured to hiss some disparaging remarks on the sacred books of India. They could not, he told them, keep their country isolated and idolatrous, with their women in bondage, with the English-speaking race rendering Christianity with all its civilising forces predominant all over the earth. He professes, and manifestly in all sincerity, an unfaltering belief in the ultimate conversion of all India to Christianity. He read statistics to show that the number of Christians had steadily increased from fifty to sixty per cent. for several decades past, until now they numbered three-quarters of a million. He showed that at that rate we are within a measurable distance of the time when there would be a hundred millions of Christians in India; but if calculations are to be based upon the statistics of conversions during the last twenty or thirty years, it is difficult to see how Mr. Cook can look forward with confidence to the future, for it is certain that the Musalmans have converted millions for the hundreds of thousands which the missionaries can boast. But Mr. Cook does not trouble himself to take count of trifles of this kind. His advice to Anglo-Indians is, in a word, to be Christians. If they wish to solve the Eastern Question in its largest sense, he told them, they should help forward missionary work all over the country, and take care that all Government schools should teach sound Christian morality. He evidently thinks that by these means the conversion of India would be accelerated. A more eff

THE CONSPIRACY AT KHATMANDU.

(FROM THE PRESS COMMISSIONER.)

CALCUTTA, JAN. 19.

With regard to the recent conspiracy in Nepal, news has been received that eighty persons have been arrested, of whom five have been released and 21 have confessed, openly regretting the failure of the plot. The cases of the others are pending. The confession of the 21 is that they, and others whose names they gave, have been conspiring for years past to put to death certain members of the Rana family, notably the present Minister and Commander-in-Chief, and their sons, but had failed to find a convenient opportunity. Finally they decided to take advantage of the Commander-in-Chief being in council with other sirdars at Khatmandu to throw a bomb into the room, and to cut down any of their enemies who escaped the effects of the bomb. If successful members of the conspiracy who were in camp with the Minister were to be informed by special messenger, and were similarly to attempt the Minister's life. The plot was betrayed on the eve of execution by one of the conspirators. The 21 persons who confessed were in the army, with ranks ranging from colonel to subadar. They were all executed on the 16th. There has been no disturbance among the soldiers. All is well at the Residency.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, JAN. 19.

The conspiracy in Nepal was framed with the view to kill the Prime Minister, the Commander-in-Chief, and other members of the Rana family. The conspirators had been engaged for several years in arranging for the outbreak ; but one of their number turned traitor just when their plans had been matured. Eighty arrests were made in Khatmandu, and twenty-one military officers who confessed their complicity in the plot were immediately executed. Whatever tampering has taken place among the soldiers does not appear to have seriously affected the loyalty of the army, as the regiments have remained perfectly quiet.

Mr. Girdlestone reached Khatmandu on the 16th.

MILITARY COMMANDS.

The commands of the following native infantry regiments have been filled as follows :—Major Gellie succeeds to the permanent command of the 39th Regiment, Colonel Simonds officiates in the 8th Regiment, Colonel W. Bartleman officiates in the 12th Regiment, and Major Branson officiates as second-in-command of the 6th Regiment.

IMPERIAL LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JAN. 19.

At to-day's meeting of the Council the Bill to amend the Civil Procedure Code was referred to a Select Committee.

The report of the Select Committee on the Bill relating to seditious publications was considered. The Hon'ble Dr. Hunter supported the Bill. He said that for six years it was his duty to examine the contents of the Native Press. In 1878 an Act was passed to protect the public safety. He confessed he was one of those who deplored that the exercise of such powers was deemed necessary [illegible] but acknowledged the forbearance with which [illegible] and it showed the executive [illegible] existing Act to form a [illegible] the Act [illegible] writings. [illegible] under the former to be dealt with by the ordinary law. The Sea Customs Act deals with the latter. The punishment provided by the Penal Code was severer than that under the Vernacular Press Act. He did not think the Bill made undue concessions or tampered with the existing legal safeguards of private reputations. Practically it intimated that the profession of native journalists was no longer regarded with suspicion by Government. The Bill now secured to native journalists heavier responsibility. He believed they would use the liberty given with loyalty, but still he thought many of them had yet to learn how to use their unrestricted freedom. Native editors would now have an opportunity they had never before enjoyed. If they used their liberty aright, they would strengthen the hands of those who wished to foster the popular element in the administration ; if they abused it, they would furnish a powerful argument for postponing the development of representative Indian institutions.

The Hon'ble Mr. Plowden congratulated the Council on passing the measure.

The Maharaja of Benares agreed in the need for the Bill.

The Hon'ble Mr. Evans agreed the time had arrived when the Vernacular Press Act should be repealed, as the public safety was not imperilled, and the Penal Code was sufficient for the evils with which the Act sought to deal.

Maharaja Jotendromohun Tagore concurred in the necessity for repealing the Act. He congratulated the Government on the measure, which, he said, gave satisfaction to all parties.

The Hon'ble Mr. Gibbs said he would make no reply to the observations that had been made. He thought the present measure was needed, as the country was tranquil. He said he had not been consulted on the former Act, and was not then in favour of it.

The Viceroy said he would not detain the Council with a review of the reasons for passing the Vernacular Press Act. He desired to say that it was a matter of great satisfaction to him that during the term of his Viceroyalty the Vernacular Press Act should have been removed from the Indian statute-book.

The Bill was then passed.

The presentation of the report of the committee on the Transfer of Property Bill was postponed.

The Hon'ble Mr. Stokes presented the committee's report on the Bill to amend the law relating to criminal procedure.

The Hon'ble Dr. Hunter was added to the Select Committee on the Hindu Wills Bill.

SIR CHARLES SARGENT yesterday delivered judgment at the High Court in a suit brought by Mr. C. A. Turner, the official liquidator of the East India Bank, to recover about a lakh of rupees from Mr. Nusserwanjee Ardaseer Wadia, who was said to have received the amount from Kessowjee Naik with a view to bring about a compromise of the bank's claim against Kessowjee. His Lordship found that the defendant, while holding a fiduciary relationship with the liquidators of the bank, had secretly benefited himself to the extent of Rs. 70,500 ; and held that he could not be allowed to retain the moneys that came to his hands for bringing about the compromise. As the person in whom the liquidators of the bank placed trust and confidence, the defendant could not be allowed to derive any benefit as against the bank from moneys received on behalf of the bank. A decree was given for the plaintiff for Rs. 70,500, in addition to the Rs. 3,000 paid by the defendant into court, with interest and costs. The plaintiff was to draw the Rs. 3,000 without prejudice to the defendant's claim for services rendered in the winding up of the bank. Defendant was to get his costs specially incurred, prior to the hearing of the suit, in consequence of a claim for another sum of Rs. 26,000 made by the plaintiff, which was afterwards abandoned.

WE are glad to hear that the reports of a further outbreak of cholera at Gunesh Khind are quite unfounded.

THE Statesman says that His Excellency the Viceroy, on hearing of the demise of Lady Fergusson, the wife of Sir James Fergusson, Governor of Bombay, immediately telegraphed to His Excellency, expressing his condolence at the sad bereavement. Sir James, our contemporary is informed, has received similar messages from some of the leading European and native gentlemen in Calcutta.

THE annual Pensioner's Fête, which was postponed owing to the death of Lady Fergusson, will take place in the Oval, in front of the New Secretariat, at 3-30 p.m. (Madras time) to-morrow, the 21st inst. All pensioners, their wives, and families, are cordially invited.

THE First Criminal Sessions of the Bombay High Court for the year 1882 are to be held on the 2nd February.

THE annual Convocation of the University of Bombay for conferring degrees is to be held on Tuesday next, at 5-15 p.m., Bombay time.

A CALCUTTA PAPER states that a Committee is about to be appointed to inquire into the question of high English education in this country. Dr. Hunter, it is rumoured, will be the president of the committee.

THE deaths from cholera in Bombay during the week ended on Tuesday, the 17th inst., numbered 17, as compared to 35 during the preceding week, and as compared to an average of 3 for the corresponding weeks of the last five years. The deaths occurred in the following divisions of the town :—Colaba 2 ; Esplanade 1 ; Mandvi 2 ; Umarkhadi 1 ; Dhobi Talao 1 ; Phanaswari 1 ; Khumbarwara 1 ; Girgaum 2 ; Parel 5 ; and Water Division 1.

A BILL has been introduced into the Viceroy's Council to exempt native vessels in the port of Bombay from the provisions of Section 38 of the Indian Ports Act, which requires that "no vessel of the burden of 100 tons or upwards shall be moved in port without having a pilot on board." The Trustees of the port and the Government of Bombay are of opinion that the pilotage of native vessels here is both undesirable and impossible ; and the Government of India has therefore decided to legislate so as to exempt such vessels, when moved in the port of Bombay, from the prohibition.

COLONEL SALE HILL, 1st Goorkhas, succeeds Sir Charles Palliser on the Brigade Staff.

THE 7th Bengal Cavalry, who were to have remained in the Quetta district until the spring, have been ordered back to India at once, owing to sickness among the men. They will be stationed at Allahabad.

ACCORDING to an up-country contemporary, news received from Burmah points to a possible appeal being made by the Burmese nobles to the Young Young Prince, now in Rangoon, as Theebaw's tyrannical eccentricities are greatly dreaded in Mandalay.

THE festivities in connection with the installation of the Maharaja of Dumraon will last from the 6th to the 10th of next month ; His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor and party arriving on the 7th, and the ceremonial taking place on the 8th. We learn that, in consequence of previous engagements, His Highness the Maharaja of Vizianagram, who is at present in Calcutta, has asked to be excused from attending the installation of the Maharaja of Dumraon.

GENERAL JUGGAT JUNG BAHADUR, of the Nepal army, has arrived in Calcutta, having been recalled from his Pooree pilgrimage by a telegram referring to the conspiracy. As an influential member of the Rana family, his presence is no doubt required in Khatmandu, and he will start for Nepal at once. Although it is, of course, very improbable that any danger will result to the Resident at Khatmandu owing to the intrigues against the Rana family, the precaution has, says the Pioneer, been taken of reinforcing the cavalry outpost of Segowlie on the border of the Terai. The squadron of the 6th Bengal Cavalry, lately stationed at Barrackpore, under the command of Lieutenant Gordon, has been ordered to join the head-quarters of the regiment at Segowlie without delay, and they are now well on their way. They travel by rail as far as Mozufferpore, and thence march to their destination by way of Motihari in Chumparun. Khatmandu is about 100 miles due north of Segowlie.

THE Hindoo Patriot has received a report of a speech which Raja Rampal Sing of Oudh made at a private meeting held in the house of Moulvie Ferrajuddin, Sub-Judge of Cawnpore. The Raja boldly avowed his disbelief in the religion of his ancestors, for which he has suffered ostracism. He had spent some years in England, and now expressed his settled purpose of re-visiting it and making it his permanent abode, in the hope that at no distant date he will be able to render substantial services to his countrymen "as one of their representatives in the English Parliament."

THE community of Hong-Kong has, says the Englishman, been much exercised in mind by the extraordinary conduct of the Governor of the Colony and his Private Secretary. Not very long ago Sir J. Pope Hennessy publicly assaulted Mr. Hayllar, Q. C., a member of the local bar, and administered a severe beating to him with his umbrella. Subsequently all sorts of stories were circulated by Dr. Eitel, the Governor's Private Secretary, in which Lady Hennessy's name was connected with Mr. Hayllar's as discreditable way. On this Mr. Hayllar took proceedings for defamation of character against Dr. Eitel, to recover $25,000 damages. Lady Hennessy's father is in the Straits settlements, and, on becoming acquainted with what had occurred, he procured the services of a barrister in practice at Shanghai and sent him up to protect his daughter's interests, which were likely to suffer by the extraordinary conduct of her husband. Matters having gone thus far, the Governor got a little alarmed, and wished to stop further proceedings and hush the affair up, especially as the fleet with the young Princes had just arrived. Mr. Hayllar drew up a formal declaration, which the Governor signed, to the effect that all the calumnious stories about Mr. Hayllar and Lady Hennessy were without any foundation in fact. To make it appear that these stories were circulated by his Private Secretary without his authority, the Governor dismissed Dr. Eitel. But no explanation appears to have been given of the assault on Mr. Hayllar, who seems to have borne his beating with much meekness. However, Dr. Eitel asserted that he had been acting in what he did by the orders of his master ; and then, finding himself, on being thrown over and dismissed, likely to get into trouble, he declared that he had not told any of the scandalous stories. As more than one person of position in the Colony is prepared to contradict Dr. Eitel's last assertion, steps have been taken by a Member of the Legislative Council, one of the persons to whom Dr. Eitel had repeated the calumnies, by order, as he said, of the Governor, to make the Secretary of State for the Colonies acquainted with the whole circumstances.

A CONSTANTINOPLE telegram to the Times states :—"The systematic agitation among the Mussulmans of Northern Africa continues. The Arabic paper, El Djewaib, published here, and sent by the Government in large quantities to Tripoli for circulation among the Arab tribes, contained last week no less than five articles written evidently with the intention of encouraging resistance to the French invasion, by inspiring a belief that the insurgents may reckon on assistance from the Sultan. If His Majesty, it is said in these articles, has not interfered in the affairs of Tunis, that is no proof that he does not intend to interfere next summer ; and France ought to know that the ten millions of Mussulmans in Northern Africa are dependent on his orders. The Tunisians are advised to continue the struggle, and are given to understand that Germany and Italy will assist the Sultan to maintain his rights as Caliph, while the Arab tribes will about the month of March to April unite in a general movement against France, and the Sultan's troops will come from Tripoli to their aid. In the number published this morning there is a long article in the same tone. The Sultan, it is said, will develop the resources of his country and live on amicable terms with his neighbours, but should any Power seek to trample under foot the sacred rights of Islam, as France is doing in Tunis, then His Majesty, as Caliph, will be ready to shed the last drop of his blood and to spend the last piastre in his treasury in defence of those rights. All these articles are signed by Selim Faris Effendi, who is believed to have some influence in Tunis, and who was lately decorated by the Sultan, shortly after the French Ambassador had complained of some articles which he had published. It is an open secret that his paper is the organ of the Pan Islamist party at the Palace, and the ideas which he reproduces may frequently be heard expressed by influential personages before they appear in the paper.

THE mania for isthmus cutting is likely to receive further satisfaction ere long in the direction of Corinth. General Turr, who in concert with M. de Lesseps has been devoting some attention to the subject, read a paper thereon at the last sitting of the Paris Society of Commercial Geography, and exhibited some plans which he has drawn up conjointly with his eminent colleague. He explained that the distance between the Bay of Corinth and the Gulf of Ægina did not exceed 6,300 yards, and announced that the work would soon be begun.

THE Berlin correspondent of the France announces that Prince Bismarck is writing his memoirs, being assisted in his work by his sons the Counts Herbert and Wilhelm. The Chancellor will only, so far as mere penmanship is concerned, contribute a portion of the book touching annos especially on the period of conflict between the Government and the Prussian Diet, on the wars of 1866 and 1870, and on his stay at St. Petersburg and at Paris. Count Herbert will treat of the Prince's childhood and youth, while his younger brother will take down his father's impressions and reminiscences of the Prussian, German, and foreign Ministers with whom he has come into contact during his long career.

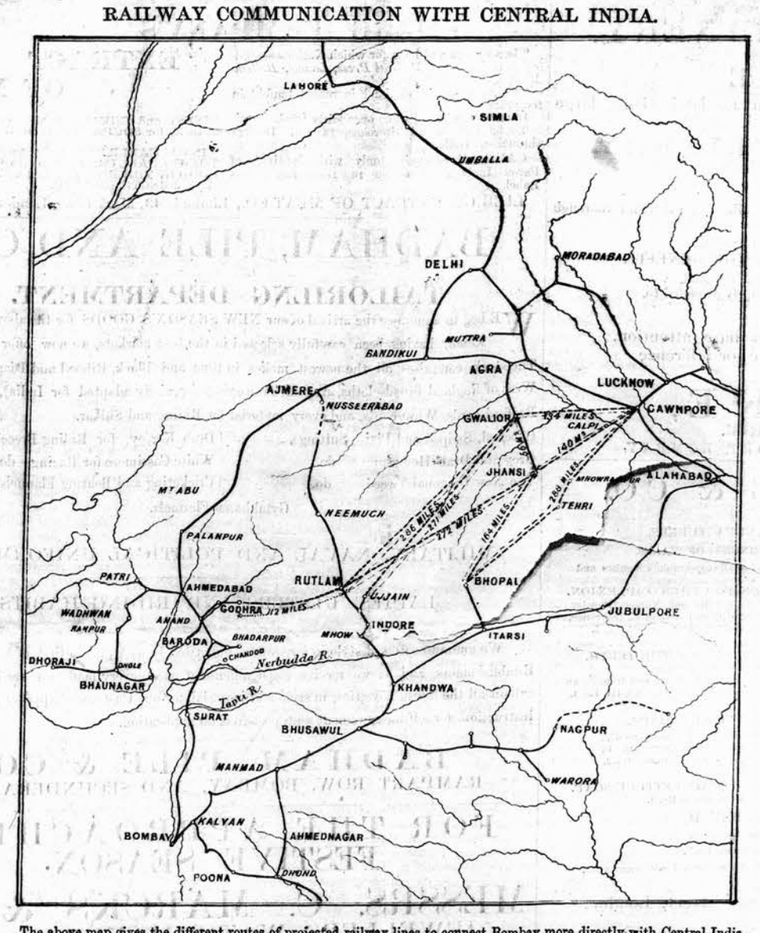
THE Daily Telegraph observes that frankness is a quality of which we, as a nation, boast, and yet it may be fairly owned that the census returns just given in Bombay put us to shame in one particular. Asked to state their profession or calling, these simple Hindus have filled up the paper with an accuracy that might in vain be sought for in this country. We cannot point to a single avowed criminal ; yet in Bombay there are, upon their own confession, twenty-six gamblers and swindlers, one dog poisoner, and sixteen wizards. Our engravers in wood are "artists," and our shopkeepers "merchants." In Bombay the six hundred and ninety-eight tattooers who inhabit the land designate themselves by no other name, but claim the distinction of the exact art they practise. So, too, the forty-one idol makers are proud of the craft which lifts them above their fellows, while no more scribblers of doggrel dispute the palm with the single poet of the province. These evidences of ingenuousness do not exist in Western civilization, and we may sigh for them in vain. Perhaps, on the other hand, Bombay would have been just as well pleased had her gamblers and swindlers, wizards and dog poisoners, kept some of this information to themselves.

A LONDON newspaper remarks that the administration of the law in Louisville, United States, appears to be based upon singularly well-defined and exact principles. A judge having laid it down as indisputable that a man named Reilly, who had been threatened by one of his acquaintances, was justified in going and hunting him up and killing him, on the principle that "the opposite theory would subject any man to constant danger of the assassin's deadly bullet or dagger, and in every case give the latter a commanding advantage," the citizens of the place are giving the new rule a fair and honest trial. This was peculiarly instanced the other day, when one Mr. Olay Sale of that place, called Mr. J. Garten, a rival merchant, by the libellous name of scoundrel. Mr Garten at once wrote to say that at a certain hour he would call at Sale's office for an apology or his blood. Garten kept his appointment, but on opening the door was not a little disconcerted at finding, according to the Toronto Mail, Mr. Sale "sitting opposite the portal with a cocked rifle lying across his lap and a reporter close by ready to describe whatever might occur." The result was most satisfactory. There was no shooting. Garten retired satisfied with what he saw, and, as he jumped the staircase, Mr. Sale was relieved of the necessity of firing at him. In the opinion of the Louisville merchants, the new legal rule is accordingly working well.

Truth thinks it would be well to remind those who have profited by the fire at the Ring Theatre of the humane duty which they owe to the many who are impoverished by the catastrophe. Those who have been bettered through the destruction of the Ring Theatre are legion. A considerable number have come into large fortunes. A young lady who is a novice in a convent in Gallicia has inherited through the fire about two millions of francs. The presumption is that very poor people did not go to the Ring Theatre on the night on which it was burned. A high tariff had been fixed, as the piece was to have been "Les Contes d'Hoffmann," by Offenbach. French generosity is spontaneous, unreflecting, large-handed while it lasts, and apt to cool in an instant. The sums of money collected in Paris for the Ring Theatre charity are enormous.

THE Melbourne Post-office authorities announce that, from the 1st instant, arrangements have been made for the exchange of money orders between Victoria and India, the United States of America, the Cape of Good Hope, and Germany.

RAILWAY COMMUNICATION WITH CENTRAL INDIA.



The above map gives the different routes of projected railway lines to connect Bombay more directly with Central India.

RAILWAY COMMUNICATION WITH CENTRAL INDIA.

Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway,
Agent and Chief Engineer's Office, Bombay,
14th January, 1882.

No. 229 or 1882.

To the CONSULTING ENGINEER and JOINT SECRETARY to GOVERNMENT, Bombay.

SIR,—With reference to Government Resolution No. 3221 of 1881, dated 31st ultimo, with accompanying copy of Resolution No. 944 from the Government of India, I have the honour to submit copy of a sketch map showing the several alternative lines suggested by the Government of India, and in tabular form a list of the lengths of the several lines.

2. The cost in each case must depend not so much on the length of line required as on the formation of the country to be crossed. From such information as existing maps and gazetteers afford the old trade line to Gwalior from near the source of the Chumbul, crossing as it would only the tributaries of that river, would appear to be likely to be less costly per mile than the line from Bhopal to Gwalior, and certainly less costly than the line from Bhopal to Cawnpore. The line from Ujain to Gwalior may be taken to be through the same district as the Rutlam and Gwalior line, but for the traffic between Guzerat and Central India it would not be so useful ; whilst it would for through traffic have the disadvantage of connecting with a narrow gauge line over which the traffic would have to pass for a distance of 122 miles before getting on to the [illegible] the length of the line would be 30 miles longer between Gwalior and Bombay than the line proposed via Rutlam.

3. The main purpose of the proposal for a light broad gauge line between Rutlam and Gwalior was to obtain a connecting link between the broad gauge systems of Central and Northern India and of Bombay. Rutlam was taken as being the point to which, as far as existing surveys give grounds for opinion, the least costly ascent to the higher level of the central plains could be attained, and a junction at Gwalior was proposed as a line is open to that place from the East Indian Railway—the Agra and Gwalior line including a great bridge over the river Chumbul, which has lately been completed. The intermediate country between Rutlam and Gwalior is known to be without much population, but so are the districts on which the alternative lines are proposed. With means of communication, population and cultivation may be expected to increase, but the G. I. P. affords example of a through traffic of great magnitude over a long length of almost desert country.

4. As Government has in contemplation the construction of a line to Jhansee from Cawnpore, the better direction for a line from Rutlam would probably be to Jhansee, at which not only the Gwalior and Cawnpore lines, but also the lines proposed for Bundelkund, would centre. The line between Godra and Rutlam, for which the Bombay Government has recommended a survey, would be of so much benefit to the trade of Guzerat and Western India, and it has been so favourably considered by Government, that its construction may be anticipated, so that the whole length of the new line required to connect the broad gauge system would be only 272 miles, in the construction of which difficulties of any kind are not apprehended.

5. The application which I had the honour to submit was for sanction to a survey, and before Government permits the alternative projects for more circuitous, more costly, and less useful lines to be proceeded with, I would venture to hope that surveys, on which the merits of the several lines can be considered, may be authorized by Government.—I have the honour to be, Sir, your most obedient servant,

F. MATHEW,
Agent and Chief Engineer.

THE NORTH-WEST TRADE WITH BOMBAY AND CALCUTTA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—Referring to the Railway Department Resolution of the Government of India published in your issue of date, I cannot help remarking, as an old "ditcher," that if Government base their hopes of retaining the produce of the North-West for Calcutta on the Hooghly bridge and Diamond Harbour railway projects, they would appear to be building "castles in the air." To ship produce direct from the railway into vessels at Diamond Harbour, the complicated machinery available for that purpose in Calcutta would require to be transferred some forty or fifty miles (I think, but have not a Gazetteer at hand) down the river ; and the fiasco of Port Canning shows how remote the probability of this transfer is. No merchant will ship produce without seeing with his own eyes, or with those of his responsible assistants, what he is shipping. Will the Sirsar there fore transform Diamond Harbour from the miserable little fever-stricken place it is into a commercial centre of European trade, and pay expenses? i.e., will it build banks (first, and most important of all), warehouses, jetties, offices, and residences, and prepare the surrounding country for the reception of a vast native population ? And then will it compensate owners of property for abandoning a very large portion of their invested capital ? This is impossible, and if the export trade of the North-West Provinces does not all, or nearly all, come to Bombay within the next few years, the property interests of Calcutta are too great for much to come of Diamond Harbour as a port. The policy of Government in attempting to bolster up Calcutta as regards the North-West export trade is kicking against the pricks. The merchants, European and native, of Calcutta, Bombay, and the Provinces, realize the situation, and they and their geographical position, will, in the not far off future, prove too strong for "Resolutions" of unbusiness-like theorists.

SUICIDE.—A coroner's inquest was held yseterday at Naron Dhooroo-street, on the body of Jeejee, woman, aged eighteen years, the wife of Dewashunker Runchore, a writer in the service of a Born named Esabhoy Moosajee. Deceased, it appears, on the night previous, during the absence of her husband, committed suicide by hanging herself by the neck to a rafter in the roof of the house in which she and her husband resided. Deceased is said to have been of unsound mind. The verdict was that the death of the deceased was caused by her having committed suicide by hanging herself by the neck.

THE THEOSOPHISTS AND MR. COOK.—We have been asked to publish the following announcement : A public meeting will be held at the Framjee Cowasjee Institute to-day at 5-30 p. m., at which Colonel Olcott will reply to the aspersions of Mr. Joseph Cook upon the Theosophical Society, and shew their baselessness. Pandit Dayanand Sarasvati Swami, the founder of the Arya Samaj, and a distinguished ally of the Society, may be present on the occasion, but will without fail on Sunday next, at the same hour and place, defend the Vedic religion against Mr. Cook's attacks. Mr. D. M. Bennett, will also avail himself of the opportunity this evening to refute certain misleading statements of Mr. Cook respecting the free thought movement. All are cordially invited." Mr. Cook, who delivered his last lecture in Bombay yesterday afternoon, leaves this morning for Poona.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN BOMBAY.—The total number of deaths registered during the week ending Tuesday, 17th January, was 469, being 21 less than in the previous week, 11 less than the week ending 18th January, 1882, and 7 less than the mean of the corresponding period in the preceding five years. During the week 288 births were reported in the different districts of the city. The rate of mortality per 1,000 of the population per annum was 30·06. There were 114 deaths from remittent fever, being 2 more than the previous week, and 9 less than in the same period last year. The deaths from diseases of the respiratory system, diarrhœa, and dysentery were last week 29, 14, and 16 respectively, as compared with 37, 19, and 13 last year. There were 17 deaths from cholera last week, as compared to 35 in the week previous.

FOUND DEAD IN A TRAIN.—On the arrival at Poona of the mail-train from Bombay last evening the dead body of a third-class passenger was removed. We are told that the deceased took his ticket from the Boree-bunder station for Poona, and that on the arrival of the train at Parell he was found dead. We presume there will be an inquiry instituted as to the cause of death, and the circumstances under which the dead body was brought into Poona. The stench, on the arrival of the train at Poona, was awful.—Deccan Herald.

THE SHAM FIGHT NEAR KIRKEE.—The attacking force, under Colonel Nuttall, Staff Corps, the composition of the force being A-2 Royal Artillery, D-2 R. A., 1-2 Battery, 2nd Light Cavalry, 2 Squadrons Poona Horse, 2nd Bn. East Yorkshire Regiment, 9th Regiment N. I., 14th Regiment N.I., 16th Regiment N. I., was drawn up about 2½ miles to the north of Yerowda Jail, and advanced to attack the Bund Hill and the Deccan College and Sapper Lines, which Colonel Govan, R. A., was holding with the following force :—The D-2 R. A., 1-2 Battery, 1-Squadron 2nd Light Cavalry, Detachments Rifle Brigade from Poona and Kirkee, and the Sappers and Miners. The attacking cavalry drove in the defending cavalry, and an artillery duel between the contending forces then commenced : after which Colonel Nuttall ordered up two regiments of infantry, the 16th and 14th N. I., to make a flank attack on the right position of the enemy, situate near the Bund Hill ; at the same time simultaneously making a front attack on the centre and left of the enemy's position with two other infantry battalions, the 15th E. Y. Regiment and 9th N. I. ; the cavalry being kept under cover in reserve, ready to charge should an opportunity occur. The regiments making the flank attack occupied the village of Yerrowda without opposition, and eventually drove the right flank of the defending force from its position near the Bund Hill. This being the key of the position, the defending force retired slowly towards the river. The "cease fire" was then sounded, and the troops marched to their quarters. After the parade the several commanding officers were called to the front by H. E. the Commander-in-Chief, who cordially praised whatever deserved commendation, and mildly, but unmistakably, found fault with what merited censure, which proceeding, we have no doubt, will work its beneficial effects on future occasions of this important nature. The proceedings were pronounced exceedingly interesting and instructive ; and officers and men alike must have been convinced that, after a hard morning's work, they were entitled to the refection, in the shape of creature comforts, to which they sat down on their return from their bloodless conflict.—Ibid.

HIGH COURT.—JANUARY 19.

(Before the Hon'ble Sir CHARLES SARGENT.)

ALLEGED BRIBES GIVEN TO MR. NUSSERWANJEE ARDASIR WADIA.

CHARLES AGNEW TURNER vs. NUSSERWANJEE ARDASIR WADIA.

HIS LORDSHIP gave judgment in the case, the hearing of which commenced on the 2nd August and was continued from time to time until about the middle of November, 1881. Mr. Jardine, with whom was Mr. Inverarity, instructed by Mr. Sayani, appeared for the plaintiff ; and Mr. Lang, with whom was Mr. Marriott, at the hearing, instructed by Messrs. Hearn, Cleveland, and Little, appeared for the defendant. The suit was brought by the plaintiff, as official liquidator of the East India Bank, in order to have the defendant make a full discovery of all the moneys, securities, and advantages obtained by him from Cassumbhoy Dhurumsey, one of the first liquidators of the bank, as a consideration for not prosecuting the petition filed by defendant in his own name or in the names of other parties ; to pay to plaintiff all moneys so received by him, with interest ; also to pay to plaintiff the sum of Rs. 50,000, received by him (defendant) from Kessowjee Naik, and to hand over to plaintiff 100 shares of the Mazagon Company, or to pay their then market value, with interest ; and also to pay to plaintiff a sum of Rs. 3,000, received by him (defendant) from the late liquidators of the bank.

His Lordship said it would help to an understanding of the matter if he stated that the East India Bank had passed through a voluntary liquidation, and that in August, 1866, Cassumbhoy Dhurumsey and Byramjee Cursetjee Ghandy were appointed liquidators with authority to sell the assets and liabilities of the bank to Nensey Dowjee for the consideration of seven rupees per share to be paid to the shareholders. The transaction was impeached and ultimately set aside in the suit brought by Purshotum Vallabhdas, and the liquidators were dismissed.
